New Prints 2006/Spring: Selected and Curated by Richard Tuttle

IPCNY is the first and only major non-profit institution devoted solely to the fine art print, and to serving the needs of its artists and audience. In keeping with this mission, IPCNY presents four installations of contemporary prints each season through its New Prints Program. All shows are juried, and submissions are open to everyone.

With rare exception, all prints on view are for sale. This checklist refers you to the point of sale—the publisher, press, workshop or artist who lent the print for exhibition. IPCNY requires no commission on sales, and as a non-profit institution, depends on donations and membership contributions to continue its programs.
